A GREATER COLLEGE

WAS MESSAGE OF 76th COMMENCEMENT OF COLLEGE.

The Future Looms up Large—Many Delightful Events of Last Week.

The 76th Commencement of Gettysburg College was one of unusual success, the largest class in the history of the institution being graduated, more alumni being present at the various exercises than have been in attendance for years, and the largest single gift to the college being announced. The occasion had another side to it which occasioned talk. The administration at one point in the meeting of the Board of Trustees was outvoted by a majority of one, it was lambasted at the class day exercises and was openly criticised at the meeting of the Alumni Association.

The admitted needs of the college have been higher scholastic standards both of entrance and curriculum, money for needed departments, buildings and growth and satisfactory disciplinary methods. The good work of the administration in securing the first has been recognized by everyone. The first evidence of the second in big figures was presented at this commencement and the third has been the troublesome feature that will not stay out of sight.

The development and onward movement of the college has reached what many call a psychological moment that if understood, valued and seized must send the college forward to a grander destiny. There must be no mistakes to dissipate the psychological moment, trustees, faculty, administration and students must be united in a great onward movement of harmony and development to reap all the good that the moment carries. From our point of view the administration has the matter in hand that it ought to make good.

The scholastic work must be so systematized that the entrance and better curriculum can be slipped into place in 1909 without disturbing the present student body by any loss of time or without loss in attendance from new students. The gift of Col. Fitch will no doubt be made demonstrable as early as possible. It is said that he asked for four years time but said that he expected to pay $25,000 a year. The effort will no doubt be directed toward an early first payment so that architect's plans can be approved by Col. Fitch and before next commencement the building of the Fitch Memorial Science Hall will have begun. The sooner gift is made demonstrable the sooner will the psychological moment develop more money and the sooner will the greater Gettysburg College sail into sight.

The greatest problem yet to be faced is the one involving disciplinary methods. When the Trustees passed a resolution authorizing a committee to see that "better literary style" is used in college publications and "freedom from objectionable matter" they headed the institution straight for trouble, for Pennsylvania has recently demonstrated that it will not tolerate a press muzzler and "better literary style" had better be taught than forced into proof. What would a Spectator look like after revision by the faculty and the knowledge of the revision to come would be a wet blanket on originality and individuality. Disciplinary methods are too much the burden of a faculty which is said to be too often divided. Things to divide a faculty had better be decided outside even if the authority to decide would have to be assumed. The immaterial issue should be avoided and so many things seem material which are in reality immaterial to the great end of advancing the institution.

In the discipline of students, the open, straight, fair appeal to nonchance is the only method that will ever win. The student body is much like the boys of the regular army. They will submit to much more from those over them if they are made to feel that they are always going to have a square deal. If they are treated while they will respond in like color and be loyal to the last ditch.

There have been mistakes enough and the past should admonish toward an avoiding of mistakes and unwise issues, as one would the college, and the future says God speed the administration to the greater Gettysburg College.

Board of Trustees Meeting.

Taking up Commencement exercises at the point left off in our last issue, the Board of Trustees had a whole day session on Tuesday and their work was not made public until Wednesday. In addition to the handsome gift of Col. Fitch announced to the Board, it was also stated to the Board that Mrs. Mary Stuckenberg had succeeded in having one hundred Lutheran women pledge $16 each annually for the support of a Y. M. C. A. Secretary at college and the Board was asked to appoint a Secretary who would also help to canvas for students. The Board accepted the gift and selected Rev. G. W. Nicely for the position for one year and the question whether or not the office will be a permanent one will be decided next year. It was also stated that prospects were bright for a second gift of $100,000 and a third party had also promised a substantial gift in the near future.

The President of the Board was authorized and directed to appoint a committee from the faculty who shall have charge of all student publications with a view of securing better literary style and freedom from objectionable matter.

The needs of the college library had been reported to the Board by the president of the college and a committee consisting of Dr. Himes, Prof. E. J. and Dr. Hefelbower was appointed to have charge of the library and to have the power of selection and purchasing of all books.

One of the most commendable changes in getting rid of ancient lumber was the decision of the Board that all degrees shall be announced in the English language at Commencement instead of Latin and in giving the honor degrees the president will give a short statement regarding attainments which moved the trustees to grant the degree. This innovation was put into practice on Commencement Day by President Hefelbower to the great relief of the audience.

The resignation of Prof. C. E. Dryden of the French chair was accepted. H. S. Dornberger and W. B. S. Rice were re-elected to their positions as instructors in Prep. R. S. Weaver of this place was elected assistant to Prof. Parsons in Physics. C. H. Stine of the graduating class was elected to teach Greek and History in Prep.

Seven new trustees were elected to the Board. Prof. Wm. J. Gies of Columbia College and the Board revoked the rule to exclude professors of other institutions to make this election. Wm. L. Gladfelter of Spring Forge, Frank E. Colvin of Bedford, John F. Dapp and Dr. George B. Kunze of Harrisburg, Rev. Dr. J. A. Clutz of Gettysburg and Col. John F. Fitch of Oakland, Cal.

Phi Gamma Delta Anniversary.

On Tuesday evening the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity held delightful public exercises in Brua Chapel in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Xi chapter at college here. The chapel was crowded with members of the fraternity, active and alumni, and their friends. The program consisted of a concert by the Fifth Regiment Band, Maryland National Guard, playing Overture (Orpheus) by Offenbach, Cornet Solo (Columbia Polka) by Rollinson and Reminiscences of Scotland by Godfrey and the applause was enormous. At the exercises that followed Prof. E. S. Breidenbaugh presided with following program. Invocation by President S. G. Hefelbower, March (Gate City) by Band, Address on the "Culture of Friendship" by Rev. Milton H. Valentine, D.D., Sextette from Lucia of Donizetti by Band, Address by Hon. T. Diner Beeber on "The Extravagant Use of Money in Politics," Medley (Light Cavalry) of Panalla by Band and the closing address was by Newton D. Baker, Esq., of Cleveland, Ohio, president of the fraternity, after which the audience sang "Our Alma Mater" accompanied by the Band and Rev. E. E. Neudewitz pronounced the Benediction. This celebration brought many alumni of the fraternity back and proved a pleasant feature of the week. The celebration of this anniversary began on Monday evening with a smoker in their fraternity house with initiation of three new members and closed Wednesday night with a dance.

Junior Oratorical Contest.

On Wednesday morning the Junior Oratorical contest for the Redding prize in oratory was held in Brua Chapel. Eight Juniors participated in the contest, the program being as follows:

Music, "Golden Spectre" by College Orchestra. Charles E. V. Hesse delivered oration of "The Hero of Three Continents" and Charles C. Bream on "It's Different." After music by the orchestra Samuel P. Snyder spoke on "Indecision or Decision" and Simon Snyder on "The Spirit of Self-Sacrifice." Paul F. Bloomhart opened next section after music with oration on "Satanstoe, the Prophet" followed by Arthur K. Walz on "Slavery and Politics." After music the only candidate opened the next block, Miss Helen Breidenbaugh, taking as her subject "The Good of Business" and the contest closed with oration of George E. Wolfe on "Personality and Tradition." The judges were: Rev. John Jay Hill of Littleton, Rev. George M. Diefenderfer of Carlisle and Rev. Elias D. Dougherty of Philadelphia, who awarded the $25 prize to Samuel F. Snyder of Indiana, Pa., and honorable mention to George E. Wolfe of Annapolis, Pa.

Class-Day Exercises.

Wednesday afternoon the usual class-day exercises were held by the graduating class on the college campus with a very large audience attending and the usual amount of fun with some spice marked the occasion. Geo. W. Kessler was master of ceremonies and made a short opening address. An amusing class roll was read by H. W. Davidson, C. P. Lantz and R. E. Topper. Frank P. Fisher read the class history, detailing the unusual things the class had run into. The class poem was by W. C. Waltemeyer and the class prophecy by E. A. Chamberlain and W. R. Heilmann, the latter bringing out much good humored applause. The presentation of gifts were made by H. W. Bower, J. M. Dickson, E. A. Miller and L. E. Merer in a happy way and the many hits brought forth applause and laughter. Roy E. Smith, president of the class, made the mantle oration and was responded to by Lloyd Van Doren, president of the Junior class. The closing remarks by the master of ceremonies on the college management created much talk and comment.

President's Reception.

The President's reception at his home on the campus closed the program of Wednesday. The evening was a delightful one and with the electric lights on the grounds it was possible for the throng of guests to be out of doors. This function was one of the most enjoyable of the week. In the receiving line were Dr. and Mrs. S. G. Hefelbower, Dr. and Mrs. P. M. Bickle, Mrs. Stuckenberg and Prof. C. E. Dryden. The College Orchestra furnished the music for the occasion and refreshments were served.

Commencement Exercises.

On Thursday morning Brua Chapel was crowded to witness the Commencement exercises, consisting of ten orations by members of the Senior class. The program was as follows:

Alumni Collection.

The ladies of Gettysburg had prepared for the Alumni a delightful and delicious luncheon that was served in Recitation Hall Thursday noon and around the three long tables were gathered the largest assembly ever seen at a collation. The various classes were grouped together and class yells on any provocation were enthusiastically given. At the close of the feast representatives of the classes having reunions responded to toasts and every one was unusually happy in his remarks. Rev. Robt. F. McClean, Dr. E. S. Breidenbaugh and J. W. Richard spoke for class of 1898, and the first speaker explained how the class had given the death blow to the thirteen superstition. Thirteen men were graduated and there was no death in the class for twice thirteen years and now with four dead seven of the nine survivors had been present at their re-union. Three of the class had been born on the thirteenth of the month and their Commencement Day had been on the 13th of a month. Rev. H. L. Yarger, D.D., responded to the toast for class of 1883. Rev. Silas D. Dougherty for class of 1885, Rev. Daniel F. Garland for class of 1891, Rev. George M. Diefenderfer for class of 1893, George S. Rentz for class of 1902, and Roy E. Smith for the class of 1908. The collation closed with a vote of thanks to the ladies of Gettysburg.

Alumni Association.

The Alumni Association was called to order immediately following the collation by the President of the Association, Chas. S. Duncan. Old officers were re-elected for another year: Pres. C. S. Duncan, 1st Vice President, C. J. Fite; 2nd Vice Pres. C. H. Huber, 3rd Vice Pres. H. H. Keller; Sec'y, Prof. C. B. Stoecker; Treasurer, H. C. Picking.

Dr. J. W. Richard proposed that the Alumni endow an Alumni Chair of History in Gettysburg College and led off with a gift of $500 for that purpose. Dr. Fred G. Bloomhart of Altoona, followed with a like amount and other sums were given or promised to be canvassed so that the total raised on the occasion was over $2000. Dr. F. G. Bloomhart, of Altoona, C. F. Fite, of Pittsburg, H. C. Picking, of Gettysburg, Rev. G. M. Diefenderfer, of Carlisle, and Rev. S. W. Herman, of Harrisburg, were appointed a committee to solicit subscriptions to the amount of $20,000 to be collected in the course of three years to endow a Chair of History. The class of 1881 announced a gift of $1000 to the college which it was hoped to add to and this sum may be given to the History Chair.

The Association recommended to the Board of Trustees an amendment to their charter that the tenure of office for a trustee instead of life should be for a term of years and the Alumni members of the Board of Trustees were asked to annually report the work of the Association, which would be printed in the Gettysburgian and a copy sent every alumnus. A plan of the Pen and Sword Society was temporarily approved for the raising of money each year from the Alumni for the college, the full plan to come before the Association at its next meeting.

The handsome new St. Joseph's Catholic Church at Bonneauville will be dedicated on next Tuesday, June 23rd.

JUNE ARGUMENT COURT

PROCEEDINGS STARTED TO CONDEMN GROUND FOR SCHOOL

A Number of Arguments Heard—Divorce Proceedings Started—Current Business.

The June Argument Court convened on Monday, President Judge S. McC. Swope and Associate Judges Geo. H. Troxell and C. D. Smith on the Bench.

In the three cases in which I. S. Miller, Wm. G. Leas and Wm. H. Groff are plaintiffs and Frank Hafer is defendant, motions for judgment for insufficient affidavits of defense were argued. The defendant alleged payment of claims sued for, amounting to about $1600, and plaintiffs alleged as time and manner of payment was not set out the affidavits of defense were not sufficient. After argument the court took the papers and reserved decision.

In the case of Harry E. Wirt, Adm. vs. John S. and Hannah Lower, tried at the April Court, in which jury gave verdict for defendants in the dispute in which plaintiff claimed $1000 and defendants claimed that the money was given to them under an agreement for support, motion for new trial was over-ruled and judgment ordered to be entered on verdict for defendant.

The accounts of Executors and Administrators as advertised were confirmed, except in estate of Silas Wagner, deceased, where W. C. Sheely, Esq., was appointed auditor to dispose of exceptions.

On petition of Sarah J. Hennig, guardian of Philip F. Hennig, decree was made for private sale of the home property on York street to William A. Hennig for $2500, the price, however, did not include $500 spent already by purchaser on improvements in the shape of a third story. Bond in $5000 was approved.

Widow's list under $500 law in the estate of S. A. Troxel, late of Gettysburg, taking her exemption, $200 in personal property and balance out of the real estate, was approved unless exceptions are filed in 20 days.

Widow's list under $500 law in the estate of Andrew J. Lochbaum, taking the same in personal property was approved unless exceptions are filed in 20 days.

The Citizen's Trust Company of Gettysburg was appointed trustee of the balance in the hands of John C. Bollinger, Administrator of the estate of Mandilla Keefer, income for use of the surviving husband.

George C. Smith, trustee of fund for use of Elizabeth Hurd, living in Iowa, under the will of Abraham Livingston, was authorized to release a mortgage on land in Iowa, to have trust declared terminated and trustee was discharged.

J. L. Williams, Esq., was discharged as a signee of the Gettysburg Times Publishing Co.

S. B. Gochanaur was discharged as administrator c. t. a. of estate of Eliakim Walthey, late of Menallen township.

Mary E. Hook was discharged as administratrix of the estate of Charles Hook, late of Mountpleasant Twp.

The account of Jacob E. Sharetts, guardian of Lenore E. Shriver, was confirmed and ward being of age, and the fund having been paid to her upon release, the guardian was discharged.

The sale of the real estate of Ellen M. Utz, deceased, made by Henry L. Wetherly, administrator, to D. C. Rudisill for $391, was confirmed.

The sale by the Citizen's Trust Co., of Gettysburg, guardian of the minor children of Mary McC. White, dec'd., of the interest of the minors in two tracts of land in Hamiltonian township to W. D. C. Marshall for the sum of $1000, was confirmed, the share of the three minors in same being $300.

In the divorce proceedings of John A. Cox vs. Mary A. Cox, subpoena in divorce was awarded on the ground of desertion.

In the divorce proceedings of Chas. L. Madison vs. Hettie Madison, on the ground of desertion, J. L. Butt, Esq., was appointed commissioner to take testimony.

In the divorce case of Samuel D. Stoner vs. Mary Stoner, alias subpoena was awarded returnable to August 4 court.

In the divorce case of Jennie A. Walters vs. John Peters Walters, subpoena in divorce awarded on the ground of desertion. The plaintiff is the woman John Waddle stated in Wall street a month ago, latter being in jail awaiting trial for assault and battery with intent to commit murder. The petition filed some time ago to inquire whether or not Jacob W. Starr was of feebly mind was withdrawn.

William H. Wright, an honorable discharged soldier was granted a license to peddle.

In case of Com. vs. Ochs Sim, indicted for being a common nuisance, and who had been in jail for sometime sentence was suspended on request of defendant and upon promise to go to the Eastern Shore of Maryland, where he had lived and worked for fourteen years.

C. W. Stoner, Esq., was appointed auditor to make distribution of the assigned estate of Penrose Myers and wife.

The account of Pius A. Miller, committee of Josiah G. Beam, a lunatic, was confirmed, with no balance in hand of committee, being exhausted in the support of the lunatic.

The account of D. R. Musselman, committee of Jennie Baumgardner, a lunatic, was confirmed.

The case of Com. vs. John Nestor, one of maintenance, in which the court had made a decree for the payment of $2 a week, was reheard and the court being of the opinion that the wife should go back and live with her husband reduced the amount of maintenance to $1 a week.

The school directors of Gettysburg presented an application for the condemnation of the triangle at junction of York and Hanover streets in Gettysburg and the Board and Mrs. Miller, the owner, agreed upon the following viewers who were appointed by the court to assess and value the same: L. J. Bucher, Joseph Kelly and J. T. Hartzell, all of Cumberland township.

On the case of Hal Pool vs. Howard Spalding, the $100 paid into Court by plaintiff to secure costs was allowed to be withdrawn the case being settled.

Distribution of the proceeds of the sheriff's sale of real estate of Minnie E. Olewine was confirmed nisi.

John B. Basehor and Charles Kindig of Union township and C. E. Lings of Oxford township, were appointed viewers to vacate and supply a road in Highland township in the vicinity of properties of Wm. C. Lott, H. V. Kepner, Mrs. Isaac Pfoutz and Quarry School House.

Henry W. Hartzell of Butler township was appointed a re-viewer in place of Cyrus S. Grist on road leading from Bendersville Station to Bendersville.

Judge Swope filed an opinion in case of First National Bank vs. John A. Mencher, in which the executors of Edward Mencher dec'd. asked to set aside transfer of judgment made by G. J. Benner, Esq., to the Bank. The court overruled motion of executors, which sustains the transfer of judgment to the Bank.

Sons of Veterans Return.

The Sons of Veterans and Sons of Veterans Reserve returned from Williamsport on Saturday evening and they unite in declaring that they had the time of their lives. The Third Regt. of the Reserves was divided into battalions and Capt. Wm. McG. Tawney was elected one of the Majors of the Regt. In a contest for a sword offered by Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin, Capt. Tawney stood 7th in number of votes. Major McGuigan and Major Stewart of this place received votes. Encampment next year will be at Milton. Capt. Paul Smyser of York was chosen Division Commander and has appointed John D. Keith, Esq., Division Counselor.

The Ladies Auxiliary had a full week of it. Mrs. Lulu Miller of this place served on the committee on resolutions of the Auxiliary.

Adams Co. Man's Advancement.

Prof. Emory D. Bream, of Boone, Iowa, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Bream, of Cumberland township, goes from Boone to Des Moines to accept the position as General Manager of the Phoenix Fire Insurance Co. This appointment is one of responsibility and trust, and coming as it does from one of the greatest companies of the country the Boone "News-Republican" says "pays a deserved compliment to the ability of Mr. Bream in this business. He first came to Boone several years ago and taught in the high school, being very successful in this work. Later he gave up teaching and took up the insurance and real estate business, being eminently successful in this work. Mr. Bream since coming to Boone has been one of the hustlers of the city and has attained to this high position through his own efforts. While all regret his removal from Boone, yet all will wish him every success in his new home." The many friends of Mr. Bream at his home heartily join in the same wish.

New Teachers Elected.

On last Thursday evening the Gettysburg School Board elected three new teachers, Miss Annie M. Maters, Miss Rose Scott in this place, and Miss Zola Starnes in Cheston. They are all experienced teachers. The Thompson Scholarship for Gettysburg College was awarded to Miss Mary M. Row.

—Mr. and Mrs. Elias Dillfield attended the reunion of the 9th Pa. Cavalry at Hanover last week. The reunion was a most enjoyable event. Survivors present.

—Robert Schmitzer left on Monday on a five months trip, for the firm he is traveling for.

—Schmucker Duncan of Washington, D. C. is visiting his mother Mrs. Catherine Duncan on Lincoln Ave. and will spend part of the summer here.

FOR SALE—Good brick house, the Culp house containing eleven rooms on East Middle Street, short distance from Baltimore St. Inquire of Wm. and Wm. Arch. McClean.

DISTRICT S. S. CONVENTION

THE WORK OF INFANT DEPARTMENT DISCUSSED.

Dr. Jacob A. Clutz Spoke on Subject of Sunday School Incentives—Other Addresses.

The annual district Sunday School Convention of the Third District of Adams county, Pa., was held Sunday afternoon and evening, June 8, 1908, in Grace Lutheran Church, Two Taverns.

The following named Supts. and delegates were present: Samuel Shoemaker, Miss Minnie Hess and Mrs. Frank Waybright, St. Paul's, Harney, Md.; Mervin Miller, Miss Stella Snyder and Miss Alverta Spangler, St. James; Chas. Dougherty, Willis Apple and Miss Grace Benner, St. Marks; John D. Schwartz, Jacob S. Sheely and Miss Matel Bixler, St. Luke's; Mervin Wintode and Miss Bessie Renner, St. John's; Gould Mickle and Elmer Harner, St. Paul's, Littlestown; Miss Nora Keagy and Miss Mary Robinson, Redeemer's, Littlestown; Wm. P. Stoner and Miss Annie V. Stoner, Mt. Pleasant; Wm. Stansbury, Harvey Schwartz and Stewart Waltman, Christ Church; Abia Smucker, W. F. Gross and Prof. W. A. Burgoon, Centenary, Littlestown; Mrs. George Bender and H. S. Reigle, St. Paul's, McSherrystown; Chas. Bucher, Miss Oma Straley and Miss Elsie Sherman, Grace.

The Convention was called to order by Pres. Mervin Wintode and sang "Where the Shepherd Leads" and "Only a Look." Prayer by Rev. Carl Mumford, followed by singing "Who is on the Lord's Side?"

Discussion, "The Infant Department," by Rev. J. J. Hill. "The business of the church is to teach the children that they belong to the Lord. To direct the energies of the children heavenward. According to scientists children grow wrong at the age of 3 to 4 years. A teacher in the Infant Dept. should be thoroughly equipped with all necessary requirements."

Singing, "When the Saints are Marching In."

Further discussion, "Infant Department," by Rev. E. S. Lindaman. "Start the child aright and you will generally have a right man or woman. Each Sunday School should have a separate room for the Infant Department if possible and have plenty of good live-spirited and soul-lifting songs. Teach the word of God, the Bible stories in such language that the children are able to grasp the truth."

This topic was further discussed by Mrs. J. J. Hill and Mrs. F. S. Lindaman, two active workers in Primary Sabbath School work. They gave many practical suggestions and especially recommended the teaching of nature songs to obtain the attention of the children.

This was followed by a male quartette, "Tell Mother I'll be There," by Franklin Rudisill and three sons, Stewart, Benton and Jacob.

Discussion, "Sunday School Incentives," by Rev. Clutz. This subject was very ably discussed. "We ought to have more Scripture verses committed to memory and it might be wise to use incentives to accomplish this. We need not hesitate to use good incentives but should strive to avoid all strife, envy and rivalry. Offer incentives or rewards on general principles. The best incentive is a real live Sunday School. To have a good live Sunday School it is necessary to have a live superintendent, live teachers, live scholars and last but not least live parents in the homes."

Duet and chorus, Mrs. Minnie Sachs, Miss Fannie Schwartz, Chas. Little and Wm. Sachs. "Though Your Sins be as Scarlet."

Roll call of delegates and superintendents.

Amount of collection $6.12. "Best Methods of Securing Sunday School Teachers" by Wm. Breanu. He said he had no best method but gave several that had been used with success. As in everything else circumstances alter cases.

The annual election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

President, Mervin Wintode. Vice Presidents, E. G. Starnes, Jno. D. Schwartz, Howard S. Reigle, D. C. Rudisill, Wm. P. Stoner, Geo. F. Dutera, S. C. Shoemaker, Chas. Little, Mervin Miller, L. M. Alleman, Harry Shrock and C. E. Palmer.

Treasurer, Abia Smucker. Secretary, Harry E. Barr. Male quartette, "Blessed Quietness," F. Rudisill and sons.

Singing, "Sunshine."

Dismissed to meet at 7:30 p. m.

EVENING SESSION.

Song service led by Miss Matel Miller.

Male quartette, "As the Day Breaks," F. Rudisill and sons.

Singing, "America," by audience. Discussion, "Church Members in the Sunday School," by Mervin Wintode, Abia Smucker and Rev. Carl Mumford. "It is wonderfully inspiring to know that the church members of middle ages are coming into the Sunday School. Would to God that we had more of them or all of them in the Sunday School, the place they ought to be."

Male quartette, "Is It Nothing to You?" F. Rudisill and sons.

Query, "How Can We Get Church Members Interested in Sunday School Work?" Answer that seems satisfactory, "More religion in Sunday Schools and more religious church members. Then we will have more church members in the Sunday School and the whole Sunday School in the church." Collection $6.74. Male quartette, "There Is Rest,"

Messrs. Chas. Bucher, Edw. Schwartz, Chas. Little and Wm. Sachs.

"Sunday School Influence" by Prof. W. A. Burgoon. "We should regard the Sunday School as a place where the church is disciplining the young. One of the greatest hindrances is the lack of properly and thoroughly preparing the lesson before coming to the Sunday School class. Scholars should look up and read references to the Scripture in connection with lesson studies. We ought to appreciate the opportunity of doing good in Sunday School work. The Sunday School is the church organized as a Bible class."

Male quartette, "Wonderful Words," by F. Rudisill and sons.

IMPROVEMENTS.

ARENTSVILLE, Pa. June 12.—Plus S. Orner has put in steam engine and machinery for his new Sash and Barrel factory that he built in this place.

Layton H. Rice has Mr. Osborns steam saw mill in his timber land sawing material for his new building that he is putting up on Pearl street in this place.

The Lutheran congregation of this place is putting new carpet in their church.

Several days ago John B. Haverstock found a land turtle on Noah Flecks farm near this place with the initials H. L. 1860 cut on its shell. It is supposed it was marked by Henry Lady who lived in that locality about that time. This is evidence that they got old.

Ira S. Orger & Bro. have put a new engine in their large butcher house.

William Yohe and family of near Shippensburg were recent visitors at the home of Jacob Yohe, his father.

Mrs. Reuben Minter is visiting her brother-in-law Prof. Samuel Getwicks at Chambersburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Reed and Mrs. S. V. Reed and daughter Emma were recent visitors at Fayetteville.

Mrs. Lida Breitzel of York and Mrs. Nevin Heller of Lancaster spent a few days at the home of Arthur Roberts near this place.

Edward F. Hartman and Harry B. Martin each had their dwelling house painted.

The wheat, grass and oats crop in this locality make an unusual good appearance and bid fair for a large crop.

The strawberry crop is excellent and the prospect is for a large crop of raspberries.

John H. Orner of near Brysonia is seriously ill, not expected to recover.

IN THE PERSONAL LINE.

JACKS MOUNTAIN, June 12.—Miss Della Flohr visited her aunt Mrs. Blenkinsstaff at Highfield several days last week.

We are very glad to report that Walter Creager who is at this time undergoing treatment at the hospital at Chambersburg is improving slowly.

Mrs. Isaac Warren and daughter Mable from Fountain Dale called up on her son Wm. Warren and family one day last week.

Mrs. Bane Snyder who visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. Asper at Bendersville station in company with her little daughter Gladys returned home last week.

Chester A. Sprenkle our enterprising salesman is traveling for Mr. Shuff at Emmitsburg selling organs etc. Mr. Sprenkle is a hustler in selling goods for his employer.

Clyde Sprenkle has peeled quite a lot of bark and is busy loading cars at Sprenkles siding to be shipped to Williamsport, Md.

Mrs. Ephraim Hartlaugh from Orrtanna spent several days last week with her granddaughter Gifford Hummelbaugh.

OF WILLIAM H. TAFT

North American Supplement for June 21 Will be a Striking Likeness.

The Philadelphia North American will give free to each buyer of its Sunday edition of June 21 a handsome photograph portrait of William Howard Taft. This is the only picture publicly indorsed, as an artistic reproduction of a lifelike portrait by Mr. Taft's managers and friends. It is an art work of highest merit, the kind of picture that sells for a dollar in the art stores. It is ready for mounting and framing.

On the same day the Magazine Section will contain:

"Taft, the Statesman and Peacemaker" by Brigadier General Clarence R. Edwards chief of the United States Bureau of Insular Affairs.

"Taft, the Citizen," by Dr. Lyman Abbott, editor of the Outlook

"Mr. Taft in His Home," by Hallie Erminie Rives, author of "Hearts Courageous," "The Exile" and other famous novels.

"How the Fight for Taft Was Waged and Won," by Robert H. Murray, author of "With Taft Around the World."

"Taft, the Outdoor Man," a story of the Big Man's recreations in the open. This section will be profusely illustrated with original photographs.

Dealers will have a limited supply, so that those wanting the paper must order early.

SHAKESPEARE'S TOMB.

Its Would Be Desecrators and the Poet's Imprecation.

The fact that would be desecrators of Shakespeare's tomb have not dared to risk the falling of the curse invoked in the lines cut upon his tomb is a striking testimony to the powerful effect upon mankind of such an imprecation. J. O. Halliwell-Phillips, writing in the eighties, said:

"The nearest approach to an excavation in the grave of Shakespeare was made in the summer of the year 1796 in digging a vault in the immediate locality, when an opening appeared which was presumed to indicate the commencement of the site of the bard's remains. The most scrupulous care, however, was taken not to disturb the neighboring earth in the slightest degree, the clerk having been placed there till the brickwork of the adjoining vault was completed to prevent any one making an examination. No relics whatever were visible through the small opening that thus presented itself, and as the poet was buried in the ground, not in a vault, the great probability is that dust alone remains. It is not many years since a phalanx of trouble tombs, lanterns and spades in hand, assembled in the chancel at dead of night, intent on disobeying the solemn injunction that the bones of Shakespeare were not to be disturbed. But the supplicatory lines prevailed. There were some among the number who at the last moment refused to incur the warning condemnation, and so the design was happily abandoned."

A correspondent of the London Athenaeum wrote in 1881: "I remember on a visit to the grave of Shakespeare in 1827 or 1828 remarking that it was little creditable to the authorities that the raised covering to the tomb should have been allowed to fall into such decay, for I could see into the grave through the hole formed by the sinking of the stones. The reply was that, 'on account of the anathema inscribed upon the tomb' no workmen could be persuaded to meddle with it."

An earlier incident is thus set forth by a contributor to the Monthly Magazine of Feb. 1, 1818:

"Notwithstanding the anathema pronounced by the bard on any disturber of his bones, the church wardens were so negligent a few years ago as to suffer the sexton in digging the adjoining grave of Dr. Davenport to break a large cavity into the tomb of Shakespeare. Mr. — told the writer that he was excited by curiosity to push his head and shoulders through the cavity, that he saw the remains of the bard and that he could easily have brought away his skull, but was deterred by the curse which the poet invoked on any one who disturbed his remains."

The attempt at a later day to meddle with the tomb had no more effective ending.—New York Tribune.

Scout's American Animals.

Many curious animals haunt the marshy parts of South America north of the pampas. Frogs big and ferocious (the centropyrus), given to making vicious springs when closely approached, the capybara, a cavy "contended with the wall of the sheep," the large capybara and the everlastingly tapir are frequently seen. Along the forest margins troops of peccaries are often met with, occasionally the jaguar, some times the puma likewise that toothless curiosity the great ear lican, long in claw, long nosed and remarkably long tongued. Very plentiful, too, are those "little knights in scaly armor," the quaint, waddling armadillos. Long eared jacanas pace about upon the floating leaves. A familiar object is the great jabiru, a stork with a preference for the desolate lagoons, where it may often be observed statueque on one leg and wrapped in preoccupation.

Big Tips For Little Favors.

"It is surprising," said a veteran Pullman porter, "how big a tip a porter sometimes gets for doing a very little thing." He added:

"A passenger once tipped me extra because he said I did not leave his shoestrings coiled up inside his shoes after I had blacked them. He said nothing made him madder than to step on his shoes in a hurry in a sleeper only to find that he had to take them off again because the shoestrings were inside. Ever since that time I have been careful not to leave shoestrings inside of the shoes I black, and more than one passenger has thanked me for being thoughtful. But it wasn't so that did the thinking. The tip did that for me, and I never forget it!"—Los Angeles Weekly.

In the Right Direction.

Bishop Blomfield was one of the many who, Dr. Johnson whose good things have found their way into a volume of misadventures, "Learn From the Nonpareils of Lady Fanny Norton."

Bishop Blomfield was led into a costly one time with a learned man as to the mental superiority of the east over the west, and his eyes were as piercing as a said:

"Well, at any rate, you can't dispute that the wise men came from the east."

"Surely that was the wisest thing they could do!" retorted the bishop.

A Futile Boast.

"Love me and the world is mine," he said.

"What's the use of saying that?" she replied. "I've been loving you for weeks and you haven't even succeeded in getting a good job!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

REAPING BENEFIT

From the Experience of Gettysburg People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterance of Gettysburg residents on the following subject will interest and benefit thousands of our readers. Read this statement. 'Tis emphatic and convincing. No better proof can be had.

Mrs. Frank Tawney, living at 27 Breckenridge St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "My son suffered from kidney disease from infancy and probably inherited the trouble. He complained of severe pains in his back and sides, his kidneys were very weak and at times he had but little control over the secretions. Colds always settled in his kidneys and caused him intense suffering. Reading an advertisement about Doan's Kidney Pills I procured a box for him at The Peoples Drug Store, he improved rapidly from the first, and when he had used the contents of one box, was without a sign of kidney ailment. I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others suffering from the same affliction."

The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the intimate questions, the obvious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure, which dispenses with the examination and local treatments. There is no other medicine so safe and safe for women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures. It is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice. Some of these numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients, will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days assist in knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of known composition. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free in receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound. If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge. All such communications are held sacredly confidential. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate and regulate stomach, liver and bowels.

"ON THE SQUARE"

TRIP ACROSS THE CONTINENT

AS DESCRIBED BY AN ADAMS COUNTY WOMAN.

Three Days and Four Nights on a Twenty-three Hundred Mile Run Across the United States.

A native of Adams county has sent the following most interesting description of a flight across the continent from New York to near the Pacific, along the lines of great railroad systems in the latter part of May, after the great rains of that month.

Arrangements were made for a lower berth. You know of course that a lower berth means no thinking and you get the seat in daytime that faces the front of the car and so you do not ride backwards as you must if you have an upper berth. Arrangements were made in New York for a lower berth after leaving Chicago. I left former place on Thursday evening, May 28. The weather was so warm that I could not sleep but it was much easier to lie in my berth than it would have been to sit all night. Besides in a sleeper one has a whole seat in daytime and in a day car that is very often the case. I watched a thunder storm while crossing Pennsylvania that night.

We passed through Philadelphia and Harrisburg, reaching Pittsburg in the morning. Stood there nearly an hour and the heat made me feel as if I could not possibly eat one bite of breakfast. But after we got out and caught the air I was hungry. Food on the P. R. dining cars is very good and you order what you want and pay for what you order.

We passed through some beautiful country but ran slowly at times because rain had made the road unsafe at places. At one place after leaving Valparaiso, Ind., we stopped where a stretch of beautiful woodland looked so inviting that a number of men, ladies and coatless got out and went under the trees. They derisively told the train men if they didn't hate to walk they'd go on to Chicago. Did they want anybody to push? Poor old engine, the weather was too hot to run. We women folks proposed a picnic in the woods. But we got into Chicago on time anyhow.

I could see farmers plowing and after leaving Chicago a lady from western Illinois told me farmers in her section were so discouraged. Rainy weather had hindered them so much and everything was behind because of the late spring.

We reached Chicago and in an hour and a half I was on the C. B. and L. bound for St. Paul, Minnesota. A big thunderstorm swept Chicago when we left. The run is four hundred and thirty-one miles on this Burlington route. As it seemed cool in comparison with the weather so far I could sleep.

Woke up at 4 o'clock Saturday morning and had my first sight of the Mississippi. We had traveled across northern Illinois to Savanna and then turned northward, following the river to St. Paul. When I had had breakfast the porter told me my berth ticket entitled me to a chair in the observation car in the rear, so to the car I went. Such a wealth of wild flowers everywhere and water everywhere as the river was high. The view all the way was delightful.

We were behind time and the conductor told those who asked why we ran so slowly was that the road was in bad shape because of washouts. He said "In a little while I'll show you why we are going at the rate of eight miles an hour instead of forty." Presently he said, "Look! See the cuts on those hills? Now look at the river side of the track. Here's a wreck that happened yesterday. This little bridge was damaged by that water coming down the hill and when that engine got on it went down, derailed the engine and the cars just ran on top of one another." "Anybody hurt?" "Yes, three killed and three men fast, and holler! They weren't hurt much but they couldn't get out from under. See how those freight cars are splintered? Of course the river got a lot of the freight." "Yes, our train came along and we saw it all." We got into Chicago six hours late.

A force of men were at work all along and we met a wrecker shortly after that. I suppose the way to get things up the pieces. I often read newspaper accounts of wrecks that told of cars made into kindling wood. Those cars were certainly split into kindling.

At St. Paul I changed cars the second time. It is easy to change as there are uniformed porters at all these large places whose business it is to look after passengers, show where to get tickets, trains, etc., and as the railroad companies pay them one is at no necessary expense, though they expect to be tipped. They must attend to you whether they are tipped or not.

At three o'clock, four in Gettysburg, on Saturday afternoon we started for the long run on the Great Northern road. It is ten hundred and eighty miles from St. Paul to my place of destination. I woke up Sunday morning as the sky reddened and watched for sunrise, but we reached Devil's Lake in North Dakota and the station hid the sun. Such part of Minnesota as I could see on Saturday afternoon I thought attractive. But there was so much water owing to heavy rains. Riding was very rough owing to damaged roads and by noon Sunday we were half an hour behind time. Part of the way after coming into Montana the country is level and treeless. The soil looked about as Adams county soil looks in March.

Finally we came to a hilly stretch where on each side the sky seemed to

TURNING OF THE WORM.

His Plain, Blunt, Straight to the Point Talk to His Wife.

"Mrs. Lambert, I think we will have to cut down expenses," remarked Mr. Lambert that day.

To his intense surprise she made no reply. Then he grew bolder.

"And I am certainly of the opinion that you are spending too much money on gowns and hats."

Again no answer. His bravery jumped up another notch.

"And, Mrs. Lambert, I must say further that we will have no more tea or receptions."

Silence. Mr. Lambert grows daring, courageous.

"It is simply an outrage the way you lavishly expend my hard earned money. You have no consideration and allow your extravagant ideas to carry you off your feet. Do you realize that we are living beyond our means?"

No answer.

"Do you know that I am making $100 a month and you are deliberately spending $200? Can't you see the family is bound to land in the poorhouse?"

Silence. Mr. Lambert's fortitude is unbroken.

"I have stood your impositions long enough, Mrs. Lambert. Do you understand? You have humiliated me until life is now unbearable. Now I intend to take hold of the reins. I will manage affairs and you will obey."

There was a sudden crash, then a yell. Mr. Lambert's head came into contact with the bedpost as Mrs. Lambert shot him furiously, and she exclaimed:

"Can't you keep your mouth shut when you are asleep? What in the world are you dreaming about anyway? It is simply barbarous the way you disturb my rest after I work so hard all day keeping the house in order. And you know I am worn out from this afternoon, yet!"

And Lambert realized it was all a dream and began nursing the slowly swelling bump on his head.—Bohemian Magazine.

MUSIC LOVING NAPLES.

It Has the Poorest and Happiest People in the World.

It is estimated that a quarter of a million people in Naples live from hand to mouth, and there are hundreds of children who subsist out of the garbage boxes and who sleep in churches and on doorsteps.

The taxes in Italy to provide warships and to keep the nation on a war footing with the other powers are really stupendous. There is a tax on everything, says the Delineator—grain in the field, fruit on the vine, old bottles. Fuel and foodstuffs are very dear. Only labor is cheap. For the very poor meat is a luxury unheard of, and even macaroni is too dear to be indulged in often. There are any number of perambulating street kitchens, where various kinds of soup, cakes and fruits are sold in portions costing 1 cent. And yet these people seem very happy. Bands of musicians are always playing in the streets; the guitar and the mandolin are to be heard everywhere—on the boats, in the hotels, and the stranger is lulled to sleep by a soft serenade under his balcony.

The story teller thrives in Naples, as there are so many idlers there. He collects a little crowd around him and proceeds in the most dramatic way, gesticulating wildly and working his face into the most execrable expressions, to relate stories of adventure or other events, much to the edification of his hearers, who to show their appreciation are often betrayed into giving a sou which might have been better spent for bread or polenta.

The public letter writer is another street dignitary of importance and in great demand, especially with timid and nervous maids of all work who have themselves neglected to learn the art of writing. Of such the public letter writer holds all the secrets of their loves and is often their adviser as well as amanuensis.

Shredding a Razor.

In shredding a razor the blade should be drawn across the strip from the head to the point, at the same time going the full length of the strip. In shaving this motion should be reversed, the blade traveling from point to heel. The reason of this is that the edge of the blade has tiny, sawlike teeth, and the opposite movements use these to the best advantage.

Opened by Mistake.

Absentmindedly the young woman raveled. "Pardon me," she said. "I didn't mean to do that."

"I see," responded Mr. Lingerlong. "Opened by mistake."—Chicago Tribune.

A Vast Difference.

"Don't I give you all the money you need?" Her husband complained.

"Yes," she replied, "but you told me before we were married that you would give me all I wanted."—London Tatler.

The Nub of the Thing.

"Man runs to clinics," andibly remarked a grizzled citizen. "He thinks pretty well of his country, of his state or province, of his town, of his own street, and then we get at the nub of the thing—the man thinks pretty well of himself."—Kansas City Newsbook.

When a man is being operated on by a barber it is best for him to keep his mouth shut. The case is different when the patient is in the dentist's chair.

Fatal Lock-Jaw.

The distressingly sad death of Edna May Crone has cast a gloom over Hunterstown and surrounding neighborhood. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Crone of near Hunterstown and aged five years and died on Sunday after terrible suffering for almost a day from lock-jaw. About a week before the little girl tramped on a piece of glass making a slight wound, which had about healed when the first symptoms of lock-jaw appeared on last Saturday. Complaining of her tongue the jaws suddenly locked. Dr. G. E. Spolz was summoned but she was beyond medical help, the tetanus germ having done its fatal work and Sunday morning brought her sufferings to an end. The funeral was held on Tuesday morning. Rev. E. E. Dietterich conducting the services with interment at the Pines Church. The parents and family have the sympathy of their many friends in their affliction.

LEWIS KING died last Thursday at the home of his parents in East Berlin from diabetes aged 46 years 3 months and 17 days. He had been living near Lovettsville, Va., and went to his home in East Berlin about a week prior to his death with his only child a son ten years old. He had not been well for year and when he grew worse, his wife was sent for, but he had expired before she arrived. Interment was in Union Cemetery, East Berlin, he is survived by his wife and son and his parents Mr. and Mrs. H. W. King of East Berlin.

MRS. LIZLITA SENTT, wife of Charles Sentt, died at home in Hamilton township last Wednesday morning aged 68 years and 4 days. Funeral on last Saturday, services by Rev. W. A. Korn with interment in Reformed cemetery, Abbottstown. She leaves besides her husband one son, Levi, at home, one daughter, Mrs. Mary Hildebrand, of East Berlin and a step-son, Wm. Sentt, of Midway.

MRS. MATILDA GARRETT, widow of Andrew Garrett, died at the home of her daughter in York last week, aged 71 years. She leaves four sons and four daughters all of York county except Mrs. Samuel Wine of Littlestown.

Mrs. KATE TATE, widow of Henry Tate died at her home in Straban Twp. on June 7th, aged about 70 years. She was ill but twenty minutes before she expired. Funeral on Tuesday, of last week with interment in Evergreen cemetery of this place. She leaves two daughters and one son.

MARGARET RACHAEL WITHEROW, only daughter of David and Mrs. Witherow, died in the Presbyterian Hospital in Philadelphia on June 7th, from heart trouble in her 13th year. The body was brought to Gettysburg last week and interment made in Evergreen cemetery.

JAMES O. MUNSOUR died at his home in Cumberland township on June 5th from heart trouble aged 69 years, 5 months and 13 days. He was a veteran of the Civil War, having been a member of Cole's Maryland Cavalry. The funeral was held on Sunday, June 7th, services by Rev. Chas. Reinwald, with interment in the Evergreen cemetery. He had been born near Emmitsburg but lived the better part of his life in Cumberland township where he had many friends who held him in high respect. He suffered an attack of paralysis last fall and shortly afterwards fell from his wagon, breaking a collar bone. He leaves a wife, one son and three daughters, Morris Munshour of this place, Mrs. James Rider of Waynesboro, Mrs. S. H. McCullough of Bellwood, and Mrs. Alva Sheets of Cumberland township. A brother and sister survive, John Munshour of Graceland, Md., and Mrs. Amy Shoemaker of Emmitsburg.

STANLEY L. FLICKINGER, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Flickinger, died at his home in Frederick on Tuesday of last week from dropsy aged 17 years. The family had formerly lived in Littlestown and body was taken to that place, funeral being held on last Thursday with interment in Mt. Carmel cemetery. He is survived by his parents and five sisters.

PETIE GOLDEN died at the home of his brother Jerome Golden at Bonneauville on June 4th after a few days' illness aged 45 years. He was unmarried.

JOHN WILSON, a travelling umbrella mender, whose home is said to be in Carlisle, died suddenly at Altland's Hotel in Abbottstown on last Thursday morning aged about 40 years, leaving no known relatives and no one in Carlisle claiming the body it was removed to Alms House in this place and buried in the burial ground of that institution.

IS THERE A CLOUDNESS BEFORE THE EYES?

Is there a difficulty in "focusing" an object, or a severe pain over the eyes after reading for a little while?

Any one of these symptoms is an indication that EYEGLASSES OR SPECTACLES should be worn, and a test to ascertain what kind and what strength should be submitted to at once.

TESTS ARE FREE here, and the right glasses are moderately priced.

The Arendtsville School Board re-organized by electing its S. Orner Seely, and A. J. Widner Treasurer and elected Miss Mary E. Rice teacher for room No. 1 and Miss Eva M. Boyer to room No. 2.

George Thomas, of Huntingdon township, was plowing in the field last week and was arranging something about the harness on one of the horses when the animal bit him on the face tearing the flesh loose from the cheek bone from ear to mouth and making a horrible wound. It took fourteen stitches to close the wound, which has given much pain but is now healing nicely.

During an electric storm a singular occurrence happened at the residence of rural mail carrier C. E. Butt of East Berlin. During a rumbling peal of thunder the house shook and broke to hundreds of pieces, a plate glass in a front door measuring 27-3/4x36-3/4 inches. No other damage was done by the strange concussion.

Tyrone township is macadamizing all the public roads with crushed stones which will put their roads second to none in the county for easy travel.

Mrs. A. F. Harnish of Latimore was white washing fence on a recent morning when she suffered a stroke and became very ill for a couple of days but is said to be improved at this writing.

Claire Sowers of near McKnightstown was getting ready to go fishing and was fixing some hooks for hooking suckers. In trying to fasten the line to the hooks he caught hold with his teeth and the live slipped hooking him in the mouth. J. H. Fritz, working near, took a pair of pliers and after hard work succeeded in cutting the ring off the hook, after which it was removed. Strange to say the operation did not cause the lad any pain.

No Need of Suffering from Rheumatism.

It is a mistake to allow rheumatism to become chronic, as the pain can always be relieved, and in most cases a cure effected by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes sleep and rest possible. Even in cases of long standing this liniment should be used on account of the relief which it affords. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by The Peoples Drug Store.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

CLIMBING AN ICE SLOPE.

Vain and Perilous Effort to Scale Mount McKinley.

The long trail to the north brings out the best in men and the worst, declares Mr. Robert Dunn in "The Shameless Plory of an Explorer." As a member of a party which made a vain attempt to reach the top of Mount McKinley he tells something of the hardships of our day's travel.

Fortively, imperceptibly, the steepness had stolen a march on us. As one line of footholds gave out we had to slide dexterously to another. The steeper slope was swept clear and hard. Steps had to be cut.

We have only three ice axes. As I never gave them a thought this morning, all of them were gobbled up when we started, and I was left with only one long willow tent pole. It was never meant to balance you in half cut steps that may or may not hold your toe.

As the steps changed from a stairway to a stepladder the other three betrayed no excitement, no uneasiness. Neither did I at first, but I felt both. It was not dizziness, not vertigo, but simply that as I looked down the sheer 2,000 feet from where we clung by our toes imagination resistlessly told over how it would feel, how long it would last, what the climax in sensation would be, were I to fall.

As hour succeeded hour I lived each minute only to make the false step. Courage is only a matter of self control anyway.

Climbing the highest mountain on the continent with a tent pole! Sometimes I boiled in those dizzy, anxious places that I had put myself in such a position with such men. Yet I must reap my own sowing. Once I asked if it wasn't customary to rope on such steep slopes, but no one but Fred answered, and he said: "Y' ain't goin' to let me tie up to anybody. A man don't want to be chances with any one but himself, haulin' him down from these places."

Our requisite of explosives besides attention to soap and water is insensitiveness. They can't see; they can't feel. They couldn't do those stunts if they did.

THE bay trotting horse sold by H. B. Geisselman of Littlestown to a Mr. Davis of Steelton several years ago for $250 after traveling a mile in 2:08 was recently sold to Mayor Reyburn of Philadelphia for $6,000.

NATURE has provided the stomach with certain natural fluids known as the digestive juices, and it is through these juices that the food we eat is acted upon in such a way as to produce the rich, red blood that flows through the veins of our body and thereby makes us strong, healthy and robust, and it is the weakening of these digestive juices that destroys health. It is our own fault if we destroy our own health, and yet it is so easy for any one to put the stomach out of order. When you need to take something take it promptly, but take something you know is reliable—something like Kodol For Dyspepsia and Indigestion. Kodol is pleasant to take, it is reliable and is guaranteed to give relief. It is sold by People's Drug Store.

THE unhooking of the backing straps of team of Willis Musselman while standing in Fairfield by some smart Alex later caused the horse to run away but no one was hurt.

STOMACH troubles are very common in the summer time and you should not only be very careful about what you eat just now, but more than this, you should be careful not to allow your stomach to become disordered, and when the stomach goes wrong take Kodol. This is the best known preparation that is offered to the people to-day for dyspepsia or indigestion or any stomach trouble. Kodol digests all foods. It is pleasant to take. It is sold here by People's Drug Store.

MRS. TAYLOR KIME of Mummasburg killed near her home in less than a week's time, a copper head snake, a house snake and a black snake and none less than 3 feet long.

Badly Sprained Ankle Cured.

Three years ago our daughter sprained her ankle and had been suffering terribly for two days and nights—had not slept a minute. Mr. Stallings, of Butler, Tenn., told us of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. We went to the store that night and got a bottle of it and bathed her ankle two or three times and she went to sleep and had a good night's rest. The next morning she was much better and in a short time could walk around and had no more trouble with her ankle.—E. M. FARMERS ATTENTION.

We have concluded to offer the services of our stallions to the farmers of Adams County at such prices as will bring those services well within the means of every farmer of the County. The cross of the trotting stallion on the ordinary farm mare produces the BEST GENERAL PURPOSE HORSE IN THE WORLD. They make good farm horses, good drivers on the road, are intelligent and docile and bring better prices when sold. The purpose in offering our high bred stallions to the Adams County farmers is to enable them to improve their stock at a reasonable cost.

Our stallions are among the best bred in the world; they possess good individuality, good size, strong bone and produce handsome, intelligent and docile colts.

THE MAGIC PAINTING

When the Room Was Darkened the Cow Went to Sleep.

IT WAS A VERY SIMPLE TRICK

How the Transformation Was Effected and How Some Other Seemingly Wonderful Effects May Be Produced by the Aid of Chemicals.

The Chinese Emperor Tai Tsung possessed among other treasures a picture known as a magic painting. It represented a pastoral scene with a cow standing in a field and mountains beyond. When the picture was shown to strangers or guests and they admired it, the emperor would say: "Yes, this is a remarkable painting. The cow, as you see, is standing, but if the room was darkened the cow would think it night and would lie down."

Then the emperor would order the room to be darkened, and the cow would be seen to be lying down, apparently asleep.

The picture was a water color, over which was painted in colorless phosphorescent paint a similar picture representing the cow lying down. In the light the standing animal was seen, but at night or in a darkened room only the phosphorescent picture was visible. So the magic picture was, after all, a very simple trick.

A Dresden chemist named Schade discovered a method of imitating it which can be accomplished as follows: First paint in ordinary colors the picture of the cow standing. Then melt some Zanzibar copal over a charcoal fire and dissolve fifteen parts of it in sixty parts of French oil of turpentine. Filter this and mix with twenty-five parts of pure linseed oil which has been previously heated and cooled.

Now take forty parts of the varnish so obtained and mix with six parts of prepared calcium carbonate, twelve parts of prepared white zinc sulphide and thirty-six parts of luminous calcium sulphide, all of which can be obtained from any chemist.

This emulsion should be ground very fine in a color mill. The result will be white luminous paint, which should be used to paint the cow lying down.

Many seemingly wonderful tricks can be performed with the use of a few simple chemicals. One of them is the ball of fire. Take for this barium sulphate (CP) one part, magnesium carbonate (CP) one part, gum tragacanth q. s. This should be mixed and rolled into marbles and kept at a red heat for about an hour, then allowed to cool slowly and placed in a glass stoppered bottle. A few hours before using place in the sun, and the marbles at once become luminous.

At the entertainment ordinary marbles are passed among the audience, one or more of the luminous marbles being concealed in the hand. The exhibitor then takes a marble from some one in the audience, holds it between his thumb and forefinger, blows upon it and asks to have the lights turned down. As this is done he substitutes the luminous marble, and the mysterious light is seen. This is handed around and changes again as the light is turned on, when the magician presents to the audience several of the ordinary marbles as souvenirs.

Another trick is very effective. Take similar bunches of artificial flowers. Brush one over with blue or magenta and powder it with the dust from one of the marbles described. Then place in the sun. When taken into a darkened room, luminous flowers are seen. The magician exhibits the flowers that have not been prepared and shows that there is nothing peculiar about them. Then as the light is turned down he substitutes the concealed bunch. Blows upon the flowers and, presto, displays to the astonished observers a luminous bunch, each flower of which stands out as if at white heat.

Luminous letters can be written and exhibited in the dark to the wonder of the audience. Luminous ink is made by placing a piece of phosphorus about the size of a pea in a test tube with a little olive oil. Place the tube in a water bath until the oil becomes heated and the phosphorus liquid. Shake well and pour into a bottle with a glass stopper. Admit air just previous to using it, and the fluid will become luminous tracery in the dark.

Water can be rendered luminous in a very simple manner. Dissolve a small piece of phosphorus in ether for several days in a glass stoppered bottle. In this place a lump of sugar, then drop the sugar in water, which will at once become luminous.

Luminous paints can be made any color—green, yellow, violet or blue—and if applied to various objects make a wonderful display at night.

Odd Names of Maryland Farms.

The curious names given to tracts of land by the owners in olden times are illustrated in a conveyance recorded in Liber W. G., No. 60, folio 57. It was executed in 1790 and conveyed from Joshua Stevenson to Richard Gettines five tracts of land in Baltimore county, the consideration being £200. The name of each tract and its dimensions are as follows: My Sweet Girl, My Friend and Plover, 62 acres; Here Is Life Without Care and Love Without Fear, 41 1/2 acres; The Unexpected Discovery, 262 acres; Hug Me Snug, 15 acres; and Stevenson's Cow Pasture, With Little I am Content, 22 acres.—Baltimore Sun.

THE DAMSEL IN DISTRESS

By Horace Zollars

I had been reading stories in the weeklies about brave club men going forth in the streets and the parks of great cities looking for strange adventures. In all these stories, even in the most commonplace parts of the city, adventure and romance invariably jumped out and greeted these modern knights errant.

After reading several of these tales of adventure I became convinced that the unexpected awaited on every corner and in every ten-cent lunchroom of the city. All that was needful was to keep one's eyes open.

All of these fiction heroes were rich, brave clubmen, possessing good looks, "immaculate clothes," and time to burn if they wished to dispose of it in that way. My position in life is different, in fact my position is that of clerk at the shirt counter of a department store. But I am called a "swell dresser" by the girls of my acquaintance, although I have not acquired the distinction of being "immaculately garbed." On Sunday night I am as leisurely as the idliest of the idle rich, and I have invested in a cane, or rather, a walking stick. I would affect even a monocle if I were not afraid that I might run across some of my friends.

One Sunday night, therefore, I sailed out in search of adventure. In the most approved knight errant style I wandered aimlessly until about ten o'clock before a chance presented itself for daring deeds or gallant rescues. I was beginning to think that perhaps I had on the wrong colored tie or maybe I did not look sufficiently bored, when I spied a lonely maiden. She was little and she had an appealing and pathetic look as she darted hasty glances up and down the street.

Catching sight of me, she hurried toward me with a relieved expression. "Oh, please, won't you walk with me a little way?" she said. "I am frightened. I forgot my purse and had to walk home and that big colored man across the street has been following me. I think he's a robber. I'm terribly frightened. I stopped under the light here, for I was afraid to go on into the dark streets."

Now in setting out in search of adventure I did not have a definite idea of the ways and means of making a gallant rescue of a distressed damsel. I had a vague idea that I would say: "Back, you cur. Take that and that—" "that" being a right swing to the point of the jaw. Whereupon the low-bred scoundrel would "slink away discomfited and muttering curses."

I looked across the street at the big negro, and, lo, there was the villain of the piece all right. He looked the part, but he did not look as if he would "back" or "take that and that" without generously returning the present. I thought perhaps discretion was the better part of valor, and that duty bade me remain by the side of the maiden in order to allay her fears.

I told her that I would wait with her on the corner until the car came, and then would see that she got home safely.

Finally when a lazy car hove in sight the girl told me that it was not the right one, but I would have taken a hay wagon to get away from there, for during the wait the burly negro had stood watching us, probably plotting how best he could overcome me. Explaining to the girl that I had nothing to defend myself with except my light walking stick, I suggested that we take this car until we had left the negro behind, when we could get off and wait for the proper one. This we did, although by so doing I had to pay an extra fare.

When the girl was free from the fear of the negro I noticed how attractive and interesting she became. In fact I was looking forward to a future acquaintance based on the service I had that night rendered and was thinking that my search for adventure was a great success; but when we reached her home there was a greater fall than that of Humpty Dumpty.

"Won't you come in?" she said. "I want to have my husband thank you and pay you back the carfare." Both of which he did, thanking me in sonorous tones and handing me a nickel with great grace and impressiveness. And that was the end of the adventure.

But I have figured out since then that in unnecessary car rides to and from his house and in changing cars I had spent 25 cents; and he gave me a nickel.

Sincerity Gives Power.

There is nothing which will add so much to one's power as the consciousness of being absolutely sincere, genuine. If your life is a perpetual lie, if you are conscious you are not what you pretend to be, you cannot be strong. There is a restraint, a perpetual fighting against the truth going on within you, a struggle which saps your energy and warps your conduct, says Home Chat. Sham and shoddy are powerless; only the genuine and the true are worth while.

His "Punishment."

It was beginning to rain and a man who was on the point of starting for church discovered that there wasn't an umbrella in the house fit for use. "You can borrow one from the T—s next door," suggested his better half; "they never go to church." "No, Laura," he answered, with firmness; "it is wrong to borrow umbrellas on Sunday. I shall punish myself for my carelessness by not going to church this morning."

THE CHARM OF ISLANDS.

What Is Missed by Those Who Live Far From the Sea.

No men of the world are so to be pitied, I think, as those who dwell far from the sea. They shall never know but a piece of life. A plain, to be sure, is very well. It responds delicately enough to the humor of the seasons changing from green to gold, from gold to dun, from dun to white. It has, too, its moods, its laughter, its melancholies, its rushings of the wind, its immutability of the dark. A hill, though, is better—that is, a hill that looks across a plain, never one that is huddled among its fellows, for there one is caught like a beetle in a cup. A hill gives one a sense of freedom and a perspective upon the world. It is something to look down on the parquetry of field and town and wood and stream, to keep vigil upon the drama woven invisibly below one's eyes. And it has moments—a hill; certain nights of stars, certain bursts of storm, certain iridescent afternoons, when the whole tragedy of autumn is unrolled at one's feet.

But above all else in the world give me an island! There is your true microcosmos! There you hold in your hand, as it were, the essence and epitome of the universe. Your own earth spreads under your feet. Your own sky hangs over your head. Your own sea encircles you. Your own portion of life is meted out to you day by day, distinct from that of other men. For not the least charm of an island is its privacy. An islet, of course, I mean—one from which you may catch the glint of water on every side. Otherwise your island is no better than a pasture. Whether you be a hermit or whether you have a book of verses underneath the bough—and the requisite concomitants—or whatever be your personal circumstances, you are yet divided from a hostile or indifferent world. You are at liberty to feel and to test your own personality. You are not overborne by the rush of humanity which is the burden of terra firma.—Scribner's Magazine.

A CASTELLANE PIRATE.

Took Sultan's Library and Demanded Ransom For Its Return.

In 1611 Jean Philip de Castellane was commander of the French man-of-war Notre Dame de la Garde. Henry IV. sent him to Morocco to demand of the sultan the release of certain French prisoners. De Castellane carried his negotiations to a successful conclusion, and the sultan as a peace offering sent to the French commander twenty Arabian horses for the king. "Just as the Notre Dame was about to weigh anchor the pretender to the Moroccan throne gained a decisive victory, and the sultan decided to flee for his life. He engaged passage for himself and harem on a Dutch merchantman, and to De Castellane he entrusted his library, one of the most extensive collections of Arabic manuscripts and books in existence. The great Mulay Ahmed was the founder of the library.

"Arriving at the place of rendezvous, Commander de Castellane sent word to the sultan that he could have his library for 3,000 ducats, the price of transportation.

"The sultan protested that he had made no such agreement and that besides he did not have the money to pay the demand, whereupon De Castellane sailed away.

"He had not gone very far when a great storm overtook the Notre Dame and drove her, a wreck, upon the African coast at Casablanca, then occupied by the king of Spain, who was at war with Morocco. The Spaniards seized the library and shipped it to Spain, where it was placed in a wing of the Escorial. What remains of the library can be seen today in an alcove labeled the Arabian collection."—Florence (Italy) Journal.

Shiraz, Xeres and Sherry.

St. Henry Drummond Wolff's knowledge of Spain and of Persia is shown in the following paragraph taken from his "Rambling Recollections."

"In Persia no wine is manufactured for sale except at Shiraz. When Persia was invaded by the Arabs they took back with them to Morocco the grapes of the district. In Spain they wished to naturalize the new fruit, and this they did at a place called Xeres, intended for Shiraz, there being no sound equivalent to 'sh' in Spanish. There the cultivated grape and made wine, which now returns to Europe as 'sherry,' that word being a periphrase of Shiraz. Shiraz wine is very similar in taste to sherry."

Juvenile Logic.

Marie is a very bright kindergarten pupil. She came home to her parents the other day and told them that the kindergarten teacher had said she will grow up to be a very nice looking young lady. "Is a good girl, but will grow up to be a very ugly woman if she is a naughty girl." "Is that true, mamma?" asked Marie, and she was informed that if the teacher said so it was true. Marie then sat still for a while, pondering seriously. "But, mamma," she suddenly burst forth again, "why was the kindergarten teacher so naughty when she was a little girl?"—Philadelphia Record.

One Exception.

"I am relieved from attendance to beggary," he followed.

In as few words as possible she broke their engagement.

"I wish to show," she observed laughingly, "that women, contrary to general report, do not necessarily care for things just because they are reduced."—Detroit Journal.

The Arendtville Base Ball Team will have a festival in this place on Saturday evening the 27th inst.

Mrs. Elias Spangler formerly of this place but now of Middletown, Pa. where she has her home with her son-in-law Rev. J. C. Nicholas spent several days among old friends in this place.

Dr. Wm. E. Wolff, wife and little son Bruce and Mrs. H. W. Trostel and her daughter Stella attended the wedding of Allen B. Trostel of the firm of H. W. Trostel & Son last Thursday to Miss Mae E. Wolff of Spring Run, Franklin County, Pa.

James L. Taylor and daughter, Mrs. Elmira Slaybaugh, have gone to Ohio where they expect to spend a month with relatives.

Messrs. Arthur Rice and Elmer Smith of Pittsburg are visitors with Layton H. Rice the former's father.

Jacob Newcomer of Harney, Md. spent several days at Dr. Wolff's his son-in-law.

Miss Elsie Lerew, of Greencastle, spent several days at the home of her grandfather, Augustus Lerew, proprietor of the Mountain House in this place.

Miss Esther Sidell of Shreve, Ohio, is visiting at the home of Hon. John F. Bushey, her uncle.

The weather and roads being favorable the children's day service in the two churches in this place last Sunday were well attended the churches were tastefully decorated for the occasion and the programs well rendered.

LOVE FEAST WELL ATTENDED.

EAST BERLIN, June 15, 1908.—On Saturday evening a very large crowd of people attended the Love Feast at the Mummert Meeting House. The seating capacity of the house is 1200 and the house was filled to its utmost capacity on Saturday evening and almost as many were on the outside unable to get in. On Sunday morning the same condition existed. There were many people from a distance and among the number elders and ministers. Lemuel Pfoutz, of Marsh Creek church, William Roop, of near Westminster, John Utz, of near Taneytown and John John, of Union Bridge. The latter was the speaker on Sunday morning taking his text from 1 Peter 3:8, making an address of great force and attentively listened to.

Albert Jacobs died near Holtzman

church last week of stomach trouble and was buried at the same church. He was aged 74 years, 3 months and 16 days. He was a member of the Reformed church. Rev. Shellheimer conducted services and A. B. Trimmer of this place was funeral director.

Alumni Meeting.

The Alumni of the Walter Loyal Temperance Legion held a regular meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Arthur Griest, near Guernsey, Friday evening, June 12th. The president Filmore Bream and the secretary E. Mae Watkins presided. After a spirited discussion concerning L. T. L. Convention, which will be held this year at Sunbury; and other minor matters, the reports of department work was given. The flower mission had done the most work since last meeting. Flowers were sent to the Harrisburg hospital where they are much appreciated.

The literary program consisted of a piano duet by Misses Myrtle and Mae Watkins, recitations by Raymond Michener and Misses Mary Weidner and Myrtle Watkins; E. Belle Griest read a call to convention from the State president J. George Frederic of New York State, "America" was sung by all present. The next half hour was spent clipping interesting articles and poems from newspapers and magazines. Envelopes are filled with these and sent to hospitals where they are much enjoyed by invalids too weak to hold heavy books.

The social part of the evening was an "exchange game" which was much enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss E. Mae Watkins the third Friday in July.

JUNE ON THE GREAT LAKES

Restful, delightful, interesting, and instructive, there is no trip like that on the Great Lakes, those inland seas which form the border line between the United States and Canada. And June is one of the most charming months in the year in which to take the trip.

For comfort the fine passenger steamships of the Anchor Line have no superiors. As well-appointed as the pallatial ocean grayhounds which plow the Atlantic, their schedule allows sufficient time at all stopping places to enable the traveler to see something of the great lake cities and to view in daylight the most distinctive sights of the lakes, and the scenery which frames them.

The trip through the Detroit River, and through Lake St. Clair, with its great ship canal in the middle of the lake, thence through Lake Huron, the locking of the steamer through the great locks at the Soo, and the passage of the Portage Entry, lake and canal, across the upper end of Michigan are novel and interesting features.

The voyage from Buffalo to Duluth cover over eleven hundred miles in the five days' journey. Leaving Buffalo the steamships Juniata and Tionesta, make stops at Erie, Cleveland, Detroit, Mackinac Island, the Soo, Marquette, Houghton and Hancock, and Duluth

The 1908 season opens on June 16, when the steamer Tionesta will make her first sailing from Buffalo.

The Anchor Line is the Great Lake Annex of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the service measures up to the high standard set by the "Standard Railroad of America."

An illustrated folder giving sailing dates of steamers, rates of fare, and other information is in course of preparation, and may be obtained when read from the Pennsylvania Railroad Ticket Agent, who is also prepared to book passengers who may desire to make this trip through the Great Lakes and back.
